FREE EXHIBIT OF PHOTOS

Made in the Important Mountains of the Old World.

Through the generosity of the Appalachian club of Boston the Bread Loaf section of the Green Mountain club has an opportunity to show to the people of Middlebury a part of the most wonderful collection of mountain views in existence.

They will be on exhibition in the new High school on Monday February 24th from 3:30 to 6 and from 7 until 10 p. m. There is no expense to the public.

The pictures were made by Vittorio Sella, who was born at Biella, 1859, in northern Italy, under the shadow of Mt. Blanc and Monte Rosa. His achievements in mountaineering and photography are sufficiently monumental to have contented any ordinary man as a life work, but these pursuits have been the recreation of Vittorio Sella since early manhood he has been actively engaged in his large business interests, the ancestral woolen manufactory of his family at Biella.

From 1880 until 1896 he made annual forays into the important mountains of Europe. In 1897 he accompanied the Duke of Abruzzi on his expedition to Mt. St. Elias. Again in 1899 he is found far afield when he accompanied the Freshfield expedition into the high Himalayas of Sikkim and Nepal.

In 1906 Sella accompanied that hardy explorer, the Duke of Abruzzi, on the expedition to Mt. Parvencen in equatorial Africa, and 1909 found him in the Himalayas of Kashmir, attempting the ascent of K, and making a record in the climb of Bride Peak.

A review from the Nation on the book of the Runvenzon expedition says: "The reproduction of the splendid photographs, nearly 200 in number, by a member of the expedition, Cavalier Ufficiale Vittorio Sella, (evidently knighted for his achievements), make this volume one of the most sumptuous books of travel within our knowledge. The wonderful beauty of the representations of the forests and the superb panoramic views of the range, it is impossible to describe.

Prof. Charles E. Fay of Tufts college sometime president of the Appalachian club and the American Alpine club originated the movement by which the Appalachian club began its Sella collection. One hundred and fifty of its members contributed to the purchase of 400 pictures, including the Alpine and Caucasus groups. Vittorio Sella himself, an honorary member of the Appalachian club, generously presented the club with an additional set from the Caucasus, a series from the Mt. St. Elias expedition, and the pictures taken on the Freshfield expedition. A second club subscription has secured the Runvenzon and Kashmir expedition photographs.

The Appalachian club has freely loaned selections from this collection to the libraries throughout Massachusetts, and is now generous to its younger sister, the Green Mountain club, in loaning about 100 photographs from this collection for exhibition at Burlington, Middlebury, Brandon and Rutland. The exhibit will have representative pictures from the 11 Alpine regions and from the six regions of the Caucasus, and from the Himalayas of the Freshfield expedition.

Fire at Power House.

About 10:30 Friday night an alarm was sounded for a fire at the power house of the Middlebury branch of the Vermont Marble company. The fire department were soon on the scene and had the blaze extinguished in a short time. The fire started from some oily rags and rope which were on the steel tube that carries the water into the wheel inside of the power house building and was discovered by some of the occupants of the Kidder block who were in the back part of the building and saw the blaze which was just breaking through. The damage was slight.
